Coming Soon: X4

Motormax International, Inc. recently announced its plans to release a new 4-passenger all-terrain vehicle. The X4, currently in design, will allow for multiple passengers while maintaining safety as well as be overall, a fun to drive machine. It will be powered by a Weber 70-horsepower V-Twin, and will have a manufacturer's turbo option allowing for 140 horsepower at the flywheel. Also included are the Fox Emulsion Series nitrogen coil-over shocks for serious ground clearance and superior handling. All remaining vehicle specifications will be released shortly as they become available. The X4 is slated to hit the showroom floor side by side with their current production models, the X1, X2, and XTR during the summer of 2007.
